The end of the year...

As the College year comes to an end and thoughts turn to a well-deserved summer break, it is worth spending a moment to look ahead to some key events coming up.

First, of course, come the publication of public exam results: on 13 August it's AS and full A level to be followed a week later by GCSE. It can be a nerve-wracking time for students, teachers and parents but try not to panic if grades aren't quite as you hoped because there is plenty of brilliant advice from expert staff on hand. Whatever the outcome, remember that you have options and choices - and time to weigh up the best routes forward for you.

Enrolment takes place between 2 and 4 September, followed by induction on 10 and 11 September. The full Autumn term begins for all students on Monday 14 September. Please see details below and make a note of these dates.

Best of luck for August; I sincerely hope your hard work and dedication is reflected in the grades awarded. Meanwhile, time to relax and enjoy the holiday because you can't change anything now! I look forward to seeing you all in the very near future.
